The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 1, 7, 12-14, 20, 25-27, 33 and 38-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yoshigai (5606199).

At column 3, line 61 to column 6, line 23, Yoshigai teaches a device comprising a semiconductor die 4 having an active surface having a plurality of bond pads 4a thereon and an opposing second surface; a plurality of projections connected to the plurality of bond pads for direct connection to a host circuit board 1 having circuit connections 3a; the plurality of projections including a plurality of solder bumps ("eutectic," and "bump electrode"), the plurality of bond pads bonded to the connections; and a metal paddle 7 of a lead frame 5 having side rails 8 connected to the paddle, the second surface of the die secured to the paddle; an electrically conductive adhesive layer ("conductive paste") securing the surface of the die to the paddle; and sealant packaging material 11 enclosing a portion of the die and covering a portion of the substrate.

Although Yoshigai does not appear to explicitly teach a lead frame of a plurality of lead frames, this is a functional limitation that indicates that the lead frame originates or is derived from a plurality of lead frames. As such, this is a process limitation. Moreover, the patentability of the product does not depend on its process of production, and the product of this product-by-process limitation is the same as the product of the applied prior art.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-6, 8-11, 15-19, 21-24, 28-32 and 34-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshigai as applied to 1, 7, 12-14, 20, 25-27, 33 and 38-39, and further in combination with applicant's admitted prior art.

Art Unit: 2814

Although Yoshigai does not appear to explicitly teach the product of claims 2-6, 8-11, 15-19, 21-24, 28-32 and 34-37 at page 3, lines 18-21; and page 5, lines 11-20, applicant teaches that this product is well known. Furthermore, it would have been obvious to combine the well known product with the product of Yoshigai because it would facilitate connection of the die to the circuit substrate and the paddle.

Although the applied prior art does not appear to teach the process limitation that the ball and the bump are deposited by a wire bonding machine, the patentability of the product does not depend on its process of production, and the product of the product-by-process limitation is the same as the product of the applied prior art.

Applicant's remarks filed 9-25-00 have been fully considered but are deemed to be moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2814
